RAIN, RAIN
GO AWAY

It's a rainy day for animal welfare NGOs in the city. It's also a season for giving

The heavy rains that have lashed the city since last week have been hard on everyone, including the people who rescue homeless animals from the floods. The funds are limited and the space available remains the same even though the intake increases steadily. It's time for IT professionals in Namma Chennai to come to their rescue yet again. Here's a chance to give them a Diwali present they'll never forget.

FOUR LEGS GOOD

Got anything to spare?

If you've been waiting for a chance to give away your old clothes, now's the perfect time. The Animal Welfare and Protection Trust (AWPT) will put them to good use. If you can donate biscuits and milk powder for their residents, you can tide them through this difficult season. Medicines are welcome. So are donations by cheque. Pay them a visit if you'd like to cheer up the animals and show your support to the aged couple that's taking care of them. The trust is located at #3/ 140, Kallaignar Karunanidhi Street, Santhoshapuram, Velachery - Tambaram Main Road and can be contacted at 2278 1381/ 98416 38489 / 98412 48870.

Puppy power

Eleven adorable puppies were taken in during the storm by Mrs. Parimala who regularly rescues animals. She is now looking for people who will adopt these vulnerable pups. They are one month old, in good health and are very playful. Get in touch with her at 2491 5575 if you want to take one of them home. ■

Partners in rhyme

Meet Ambi and Thambi who are being introduced to us as the friendliest kittens in the Cattitude Trust. Thambi (on the left), who is blind in one eye, doesn't let that put a dampener on things and is extremely playful. They are around six months old and will easily adapt to a new home. If you'd like to adopt one of them (or both), call Devika Khazvini at 98840 97862.
